I'm a passionate Senior Front End Engineer with extensive experience in building high-performance web applications. I specialize in React, Next.js, and TypeScript, and I love working with the latest web technologies. My journey includes enhancing user experiences and optimizing applications for companies like Setflow, Goki, and Omid Analyzer. With a strong foundation in JavaScript, HTML, and CSS, I've led teams, conducted numerous code reviews, and implemented innovative solutions that drive performance and usability. Always eager to learn and grow, I'm excited to continue pushing the boundaries of web development.
